Phone conversation between John O'Connor and Nicola Gobbo

O'CONNOR: Time is uh 3.10pm on uhh Wednesday the 2nd day of May. Detective Inspector John O'Connor about to ring uh Witness F, Nicola Gobbo, uh on her mobile.

(Phone rings)

GOBBO: Hello?

O'CONNOR: Nicola, John O'Connor again. How are-

GOBBO: Thought it might be you. No-one else rings from a private number.

O'CONNOR: Oh don't they? Oh well.

GOBBO: No. That's alright go on.

O'CONNOR: You got a pen?

GOBBO: Yep.

O'CONNOR: Alright New South Wales Police assistance line.

GOBBO: Sorry? New South Wales?

O'CONNOR: Yeah. Police assistance line.

GOBBO: Yep.

O'CONNOR: 1800.

GOBBO: Yep.

O'CONNOR: 725.

GOBBO: Yep.

O'CONNOR: 631.

GOBBO: 631?

O'CONNOR: Yep. So that's 1800 725 631.

GOBBO: Yep.

O'CONNOR: Um so give them a ring um and uh I'll be back uh I'm on days off for a while and then uh I'll be back alright?

GOBBO: Okay so when do you-when are you umm-back next week?

O'CONNOR: Week and a half.

GOBBO: Oh okay. Um and if um now that I've had a chance to read the um letter not or response I should say.

O'CONNOR: Yep.

GOBBO: Is the situation the same as in you're going to deliver my response or am I dropping it off myself?

O'CONNOR: Oh no uh can you send your response in the post or not?

GOBBO: No I'll hand deliver it I'm not putting it in the mail.

O'CONNOR: Nah well can you hand deliver it then yourself?

GOBBO: Yeah I'm just asking you if there's something else in the that I'm not aware of.

O'CONNOR: No no no I just- no if you can hand deliver it to um the police centre that'll be um that'll make it uh make it easy.

GOBBO: Yeah no that's alright um. I was just wondering whether or not there's some you know some new directive in place that nobody's bothered to tell anyone about that's all.

O'CONNOR: No not that I know of. I just got rung up and asked to deliver the-

GOBBO: Pardon?

O'CONNOR: Deliver the letter to you so-

GOBBO: Okay. Alright. No problems.

O'CONNOR: Alright. You take care Nicola and good-

GOBBO: Thanks.

O'CONNOR: -good luck with the uh New South Wales. See ya bye.

GOBBO: Yeah thanks. See ya.

O'CONNOR: Bye.

(Phone call ends)

O'CONNOR: Uhh time is now uhh 3.15 pm. End recording.

End of recording.
